Ruby Gramlow, RN
Hospice Nurse

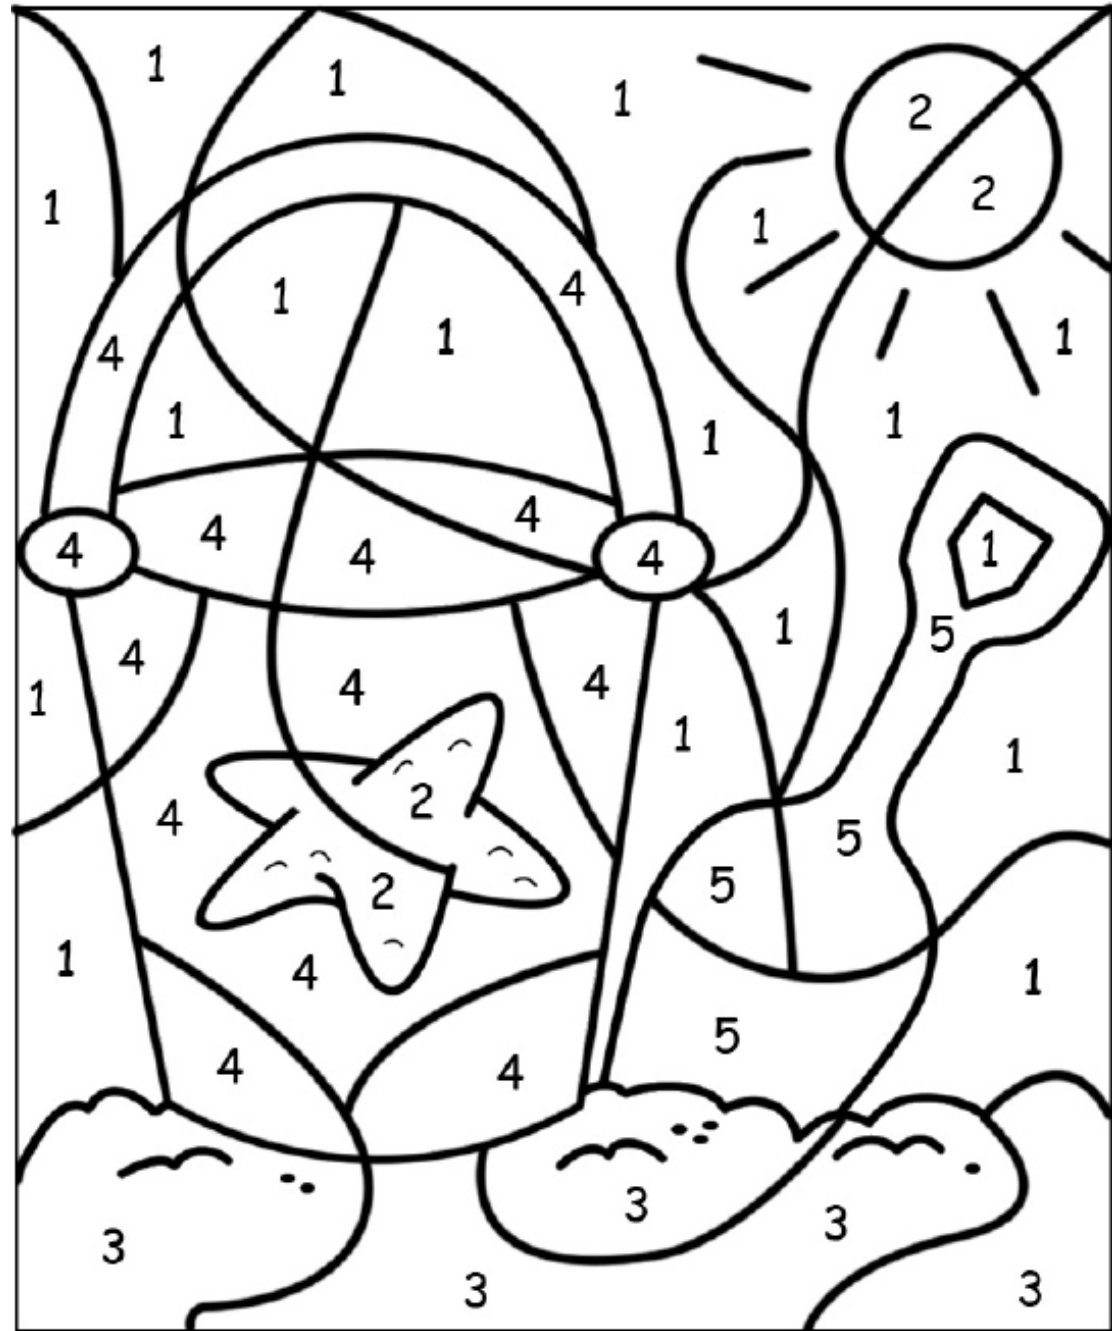

For Ruby Gramlow, being a hospice nurse for more than 12 years has been a humbling experience. “Patients and families not only welcome you as their nurse, but also welcome our organization into their lives and the life of their loved one knowing their loved one will not live for very long,” she said. “It’s very special to be part of their family and have that closeness.”

“Hospice care is a totally different way of nursing than I’ve ever done before. I like working one-on-one with families. When you walk with a patient and family at the end of life, it’s much more peaceful and content. You still have ups and downs, but when you can provide satisfaction for the patient and a calm sense of peace for the family, it’s really beautiful.”

“The best and most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or even touched—they must be felt with the heart.”
